

Announcement Concerning Change of Official Website Address

Japan Securities Finance CO., Ltd.

In Order to allow visitors to access our website more securely, Japan Securities Finance Co., Ltd. (herein after “JSF”) will be enabling Always-On SSL (AOSSL or HTTPS everywhere) as a means of responding to security risk such as falsification, wiretapping, and spoofing conducted by third parties.

This means that site addresses for all pages on our website (both IR website and Loans for Margin Transactions website) will change. As such, if you have added any page in the JSF website to your Favorites/Bookmarks or included a link/URL on any digital/printed materials, we ask that you update the site addresses in your settings or on any of such materials. Although visitors who attempt to access pages using the current site addresses will be redirected to the new site addresses, it is recommended that users update these site addresses in advance to avoid broken links to JSF website.

We are committed to strengthening security so that every visitors can use our website with peace of mind. Thank you for your understanding.
